EDITORIAL NOTE

The world is passing through a phase of inventions and innovations. Countries in all stages of development are investing heavily in research and development in almost all fields of study. The high level of competition in the fields of research, inventions and innovations brings the risks associated with intentional or unintentional duplication of an ongoing or completed work. It is in this context the discussion and understanding of Intellectual Property Rights (I.P.R.) becomes all the more important. Recognising the importance of this concept the different accrediting agencies too are encouraging the Higher Education Institutions to organise orientation and knowledge sharing sessions for faculty, staff and students.

The institute is happy to collaborate with Anjuman-e-islam College, Vijapura to conduct the International Webinar on Intellectual Property Rights (I.P.R.). As per the theme of the webinar the International and National Perspectives were critically explained by the invited resource persons for U.S.A and India. The practical knowledge of the resource persons in this field made the sessions very fruitful for the participants. The invited papers too covered the different dimensions of I.P.R. with reference to Constitutional provisions, Cyber Crimes and others.

The present special volume of SAJMR is the outcome of this important academic exercise. The publication of the research articles will be a handy reference for all those who participated in the proceedings of the webinar but also to are undertaking deeper research in this field. We hope the present special issue serves this intended academic purpose.

Glimpse Of : Impact of Demonetization on the common man

Will November 8, 2016, in India be remembered as a watershed event in the history of India or will it be just another passing event? The demonetization has observed not only economic impact but also social and political ramifications, both in immediate and long-term perspective.

Size of the Impact:

India's GDP is $2,000 billion (Rs 125 lakh crore) and estimated parallel economy is 23 percent, which makes it about Rs 28 lakh crore. A large percentage of this amount is divided in real estate, gold, and cash. Real estate accounts for more than 50 percent and the rest 50 percent is equally divided between cash and gold. Around 68 percent of that cash is kept in denominations of Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 notes. A back-of-the-envelope calculation shows that Rs 3 lakh crore or $45 billion will flow into India's white economy, which is equivalent to GDP of more than 100 countries!

The Conference on "Demonetisation and Remonetisation : Issues and Challenges for Global Business", mainly focuses on the a variety of issues - leading to after Demonetization, its impacts on especially Financial, Economic, Business, Social and to that of common Man's life. No doubt it will be a healthy, informative discussion and knowledge sharing platform. About Kolhapur (A Well known Historical Place)

Kolhapur is one of the most easily approachable cities in Maharashtra that offers abundant tourist attractions and also serves as an important travel hub to explore other places. Not only does the city have its famous Mahalakshmi Mandir that draws millions of pilgrims each year but is also a nodal point to visit Panhala Fort and a wildlife sanctuary just a few kilometers away.

Located 377 kilometers from Mumbai and 237 kilometers from Pune, Kolhapur is very well-connected with most of the cities in Maharashtra by a good network of roads and railway. For the devout, it is the temple of Goddess Mahalakshmi in Kolhapur that is a big draw, it being the most revered shrine in the state. That apart, Kolhapur also serves as a base for making single day trips to many other places, all of them unique in their own ways. Fort Panhala, for example, is a 'must see' place, just 18 kilometers northwest of the city. Commanding a truly majestic view of the valleys, it is said to have been built by the Shilahara rulers of Kolhapur in the 11th century. Since then it always has been a strategic location for many of the ruling dynasties that controlled Kolhapur, including the Yadavas, Bahamani, Adilshahi, and Marathas. Further, close to Panhala is the famous Jyotba shrine. Many devotees from Maharashtra, Goa and Karnataka visit this shrine frequently. At the foothill of the shrine are the Buddhist caves that are said to have been in existence since the 3rd century.

To the southeast of Kolhapur is the equally popular shrine of Lord Dattatreya at Nrusimhawadi in Shirol taluka. The shrine is located on the bank of river Krishna. About 25 kilometers from this shrine is the Koppeshwar Mandir in Khirdrapur. The temple is an icon in terms of its architectural wonder and sculptural beauty. The temple and the shrine of Dattatreya can be visited in one day by private vehicle and a night halt, if required, is possible at Nrusimhawadi. To the east of Kolhapur at about 20 kilometers is the wonderful Siddhagin Gramjivan Museum. Maintained by the Kadsidheshwar Math, it displays ancient India, and in particular the age-old self-sufficient rural system, some of the peculiar festivals observed ages ago, a typical bazaar and much more, all in sculptural form. For nature lovers, the Dajpur Wildlife Sanctuary should be a priority on the travel list since it is known for its bison. Located 46 kilometers from Kolhapur and also known as the Radhanagari Wildlife Sanctuary, it is spread over an area of 351.16 square kilometers. Along with the bison you will find here tigers, leopards, sloth bears, Giant Squirrels, Mouse Deers, Barking Deers, and so on. The Radhanagari Dam built by Rajarshi Shahu Maharaj of Kolhapur is near the sanctuary. Within the city limits is the Town Hall Museum that not only offers an exciting glimpse of our rich Indian heritage, especially through its relics of the Brahmapuri settlement, but also is unique for the fact that it houses the paintings and portraits of some of the best known artists of the country. One of the sections that attract many is the one that showcases weapons. This is a myriad collection ranging from Stone Age axes to guns used in World War I. Also on display are swords of different types from the Mughal and Maratha empires. Further ahead, along with the shields made from the hides of rhinoceros and tortoises are some historical weapons such as the Gurj, Madu and Gupta.

By Air : Participants can reach Mumbai/Pune by air and travel by rail/road to reach Kolhapur
